The scenes of yesterday are gone, yet Marietta relives its past with historic places which play a part in the present.

A) The persent county courthouse, built in 1902, marks the sight of the original courthouse built in 1800. At present the courthouse does not house the county jail as did the two previous structures.

B) The forey-seven year old "Becky Thatcher," brought to the banks of the Muaskigum River by the Ohio Showboar Drama, Inc., restores the riverboar-showboar some of yesteryear.

C) Mrs. William Mills, born in one of the buildings that now forms the Besty Mills Complex, started a club in 1898 as a sewing class for young girls. Today the club serves females of all ages and contains a tex room and public dining area.

D) Mound Cemetery, named for the thirty feet high mound it encompasses, contains the graves of eventyfour officers of the American Revolution.

E) Abour 1850, from bricks manufactured at the nearby Cosler Brick Yard, Louis Goebel built what is now the Marie Amoinette Nursing Home, located at 400 7th Super.

The motto of the Marietta City School System comes from this section of the Northwest Ordinance of 1787:

> "Religion, morality, and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged."

Prompted by this passage and another section of the ordinance which required each township to devote 1/16 of its area to education, Marietta has erected four high schools and over 20 elementary schools since 1788.

Heading the administration was Mr. Lantz Hinson, Superintendent, who oversaw and co-ordinated staff and academic programs. Principal Bett performed similar duties within MSHS. Assistant Principal Powell was responsible primarily for student discipline.

Flected by the citizens, school board members served as representatives of the people to direct the aftairs of the district. Through regular monthly meetings and less formal study sessions, they attempted to provide broad goals and policies based on citizen input

GUIDANCE COUNSELORS SHARE STUDENT PROBLEMS

The guidance department provided three major benefits for the students during the year. The first, Alumni Day, held in cooperation with the National Honor Society, gave students a chance to talk to former M.S.H.S. grads about their colleges. In cooperation with Marietta College, juniors and seniors with a 3.0 cumulative average could, at a reduced fee, enroll in a course for credit. In March, the guidance department held a college day for juniors where admissions representatives from about thirty colleges, universities, and technical schools met with all students from the county high schools.

Despite the fact that vending machines replaced the hot lunch program, the cafeteria hostesses still had many duties to perform. Instead of serving meals to the students, they refulled the various machines, made change, checked prices and repaired broken machines. In addition, they counted food from the Automatic Vending Company, cleaned machines, and took monthly inventories

Having the responsibility of keeping the school facilities in running order, the custodians cleaned the rooms, washed the chalkboards and changed the lights. Their duties extended outside the main building, to the auditorium, the gym and the surrounding grounds, as they cleaned the buildings after school plays, basketball and various other events.

TEACHERS ARE HUMAN TOO

Often students complain that teachers are insensitive robots that know only how to give homework. Actually teachers are very human. Having had a childhood and an adolescence, teachers suffered through many of the same problems that students face today, and participated in many of the same activities. Although hair and dress styles were different, the teachers themselves were much like students today.

After the marching band made their seasonal debut at the Washington County fair parade, they began rehearsals for the Band-O-Rama festival. Since football season followed both these late-summer performances closely, the group worked to perfect their half-time and pre-game maneuvers, which had a new informal look with the addition of "boogie" dance steps. They took these routines to contest in October for the Athens Marching Band Invitational where they placed third among the twenty-five bands competing. At Christmas time, in lieu of the teadstsonal holiday concert, the band recorded familiar carols and popular music for airing on a local radio station, then immediately started preparing for February's Variety Band Show. District contest in Cambridge followed, the symphonic band rated "outstanding" with the judges. After their spring concert in April they continued in competition, this time at state finals where their overall performance mented an "excellent" rating. The band finished the year with performances in the Memorial Day parade and in June graduation ceremonies

CHOIR AND ORCHESTRA JOIN TALENTS FOR MANY MOODS"

The choir's first yearly performance, at the Christmas concert, also featured the talents of the orchestra; strings and winds joined them for the finale of the show, a special holiday number, "The Many Moods of Christmas." The ten voice group then prepared for the annual Minoma Benson concert in February. In March, three members of the choir sang solos before the judges at the solo and ensemble competition in St. Clairsville. The well-received May "pops" concert provided a satisfying end to the choir season.

In November, after completing their annual grade school tour to help promote younger interest in the string program, the seven members of the orchestra prepared for a less traditional activity — a trip to see the Cleveland Orchestra in concert. At Christmastime, the full orchestra, which included winds and percussion players from the band, accompanied the choir for a special number in the choir's holiday concert. The orchestra also performed in their own Christmas, winter, and spring concerts; the last, a showcase of American music, was an official Bi-centennial event

AFS STUDENTS EXPRESS FEELINGS

Dear Friends,

When I started having activities with AFS before I came, I always thought it was really interesting but I never realized how much nicer it was to experience coming to live one year in a different family and community. Since the first day I found it easier to communicate and get along well. I have made very good friends and met really warm people

This year has been the most meaningful time in my life. I've enjoyed sharing different cultures and experiencing and learning many new things. I have enjoyed each day in Manetta, being a member of a new family, participating at school, getting to know many friends and admiring the change of seasons and weather different from my always warm city.

Thanks to everybody for this happiest 1975-1976.

Dear Friends

When I found out I was going to Finland, I wasn't really sure if everything would go all right. For one thing I couldn't speak the language and I didn't know much about the country, but I learned fast.

Finnish was the only language that I heard, so I started to pick up a few words at a time and by the end of the summer I could speak some and understand even more. I lived with the Louhivraar's in their summer cottage on a lake. We took "Sauna" every night. "Sauna" is the Finnish word for bath and it is a tradition which they treasure

I went sailing and waterskiing for the first time in my life and learned so much about the country, the people and myself. It was definitely a memorable trip and I hope to return

there some day

Cathy Wesel

Dear Friends,

When I arrived in the U.S. I didn't know what to expect. The first thing I looked forward to was meeting the family with whom I would spend a whole усаг.

I was indeed fortunate because I couldn't have found a better family than the Cislers. From the very first moment we enjoyed a very fine relationship. I felt like a real member of the family

I learned many things out on the farm which I wouldn't have learned if I hadn't come here, like working with horses, and hunting and fishing.

The Americans are the finest people I ever met in any of the foreign countries I've visited. From the first day on, both in school and after school, students came to me and talked with me, which helped me learn the language and to discover a lot of good friends.

By joining the football team I started to love a new kind of sport — football I also began to learn the American way of life, including dating. We in Germany don't know your kind of dating and in the beginning it was strange to me. But like everything else I also learned this. One important thing which helped me in this respect was meeting wonderful American girls. They are really a lot nicer and prettier than I had been led to expect.

When you begin to like Marietta, your family and your friends as much as I do, it is hard to say "good-bye" and go back to your own country.

If someone from AFS would ask me "Do you want to stay a year longer," I wouldn't hesitate one second to say "yes."

I shall leave Marietta and America full of ideas that I received here and with the sincere feeling that I have met one of the nicest countries and some of the greatest people in the world. I want to say "thank you" to the students and faculty for making this the most memorable year of my life.

National Honor Society expanded its tutoring program in the '75-'76 school year to include almost every subject in the school. About 20 members of NHS assisted over 100 students in the program. Other activities sponsored by NHS included College Day, on which representatives from 33 colleges talked with Washington County juniors and seniors about a college education; Alumni Day, which gave MSHS students a chance to talk with recent graduates about their colleges; Spring Induction, in which 38 students became members of NHS; and an end of the year picture for all old and new members.

OLYMPIAN COUNCIL HOLDS ROMAN DINNER

Throughout the year, Olympian Council, composed of Latin II students, sought to promote interest in Roman history, especially through the writings of Julius Caesar. In spring three council members organized a special Roman dinner for all Latin I and Latin II students. At the year's end, members completed projects about some aspect of Roman life.

The German Club, with Mr. Whiting as advisor, received much second-hand information about Germany through the experiences of others. Professor Gilde from Marietta College spoke to them about East and West Germany. Sue Snediker showed slides dealing with her trip to Germany, sponsored by A.F.S., helping them to understand the present-day customs of Germany.

At the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow in Columbus, Ohio, the Russian Club, also with Mr. Whating as advisor presented a play written by Alice Dve entitled. The Language Barner" as part of Slavic Day sponsored by Ohio State University. This play won second prize in the category of Russian Drama.

STUDENTS BROADEN KNOWLEDGE, EXPERIENCE

Summer seminars throughout Ohio, West Virginia and Michigan provided opportunities for students to expand their knowledge in their particular area of interest. At a weeklong camp in Lancaster, Ohio, the band prepared for the fall marching season by spending many hours a day on the field memorizing new routines and music. A Student Council workshop at Ohio Northern University in Ada, Ohio, directed those attending in ways to improve communications among members in their own schools. Held at Ohio University and Capital University, respectively, Boys' and Garls' States allowed the six MSHS representatives to learn firsthand how state agencies operate by electing representatives to serve in a mock government. Jackson's Mill, West Virginia, and Ohio University were sites of journalism institutes that offered instruction in both newspaper and yearbook production. At camp in Hartland, Michigan, the six-member varsity cheerleading squad competed well enough to go on to national competition, held in Michigan about a month later

Checrleaders Sandy Hayburst, Lon Ann Moore, Teresa Conelly, Shelly Zide Susan Nida, and Kam Rankan celebrated after receiving awards.

On the first day of camp, the band marched through the Lancaster park grounds

On April 24, the class of 1977 sponsored "Moonlight on the Pacific," the annual junior senior prom. In the grass hut built around the door, attendants presented over one hundred and fifty couples with Hawaiian less. Once inside the gym, decorated with crepe paper, palm trees, fish net, and a revolving mirror ball, couples sat at tables ornamented with buddhas, pineapples, and seashells. Highlighting the evening, Pat McKitrick and Susan Nida, last years prom king and queen, crowned 1976 queen Micki Tulhus and king John Sands

SING OUT, SWEET LAND HAS A BICENTENNIAL THEME

Following a bicentennial theme, the all-school play, "Sing Out, Sweet Land," represented American music from 1776 to 1976. Cursed to sing and dance America's songs, Barnaby Goodchild, the major character, portrayed by Dave Goettge, roamed throughout the United States for over two hundred years Reappearing throughout the play, Parson Killsoy, played by Tom King, tried to hinder Barnaby's happiness in music whenever possible. Also following Barnaby through time, Priscilla, portrayed by Kim Broedel, tried to convince him to stop his endless roaming and singing and settle down During the trio's trip through America's history of music, they visited Puritan America, colonial Virginia, the western frontier, the gold mines, a Mississippi riverboat, a train, a city park, and a speakeasy of the 1920's

TIGERS BLAST UPPER ARLINGTON

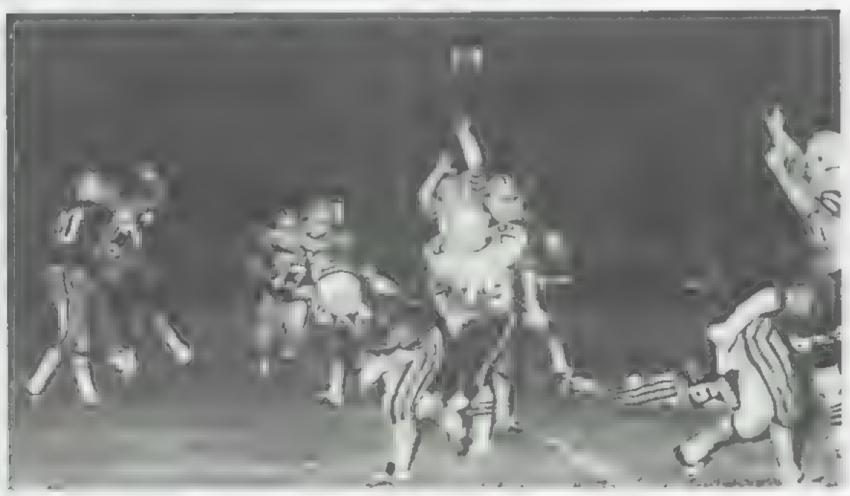

On Friday, November 4, 1975, for the first time in history, the Tiger football team upset Upper Arlington 19-0. After seven years of merciless treatment at the hands of the Golden Bears, a Tiger team finally rose to the occasion and shut out the Arlington powerhouse. The win marked a gratifying end to an otherwise disappointing season. Although the Tigers finished 3-7, they were a better team than their record indicated State ranked Lancaster won by a last-minute touchdown; tough Parkersburg South won on a field goal, and Bellaire scored twice in the last quarter to win 10-14

Unable to penetrate the tough Athena determe, the Tiger offenie bowed to a 34-0 defeat

With 80 wins and 5 losses, Cross Country ended a most impressive season. For the first time in their history, the team won the C.O.L. Championship. In addition, they became the first C.O.L. champs in any sports since 1967, the first District Champ since 1966, and the first state qualifying team since 1957.

For the first time in four years, the volleybal, team went undefeated. After winning the Three Rivers Conference Championship with an 11-0 record, the varsity spikers vollied their way to the regionals with sectional wins over Athens and Jackson and district wins over Logan and New Philidelphia. A loss to Columbus West at the regional tournament ended the long series of victories for the tigerettes.

The JV team was also impressive, finishing the season with a 9-1 record

SPIRIT BOOSTERS DUTIES

In early summer cheerleaders began their work as spirit hoosters. At camp, both varsity. indreserve cheer ideas perfected skirs an apem pom routines. The varsity squad received a fourth place trophy and a ribbon for their skit. and pom pom routine, while the reserve squadreceived "superior," "outstanding," and "excellent" ribbons for their routines. During the school year both varsity and reserve squads sparked enthusiasm by decorating houses of tiger football and basketball players and by baking them cookies. Throughout the year, in addition to leading the student body both in assemblies and at games, they sponsored car washes and bake sales and sold stationery and spirit buttons to finance the buying of new skirts and future trips to camp.

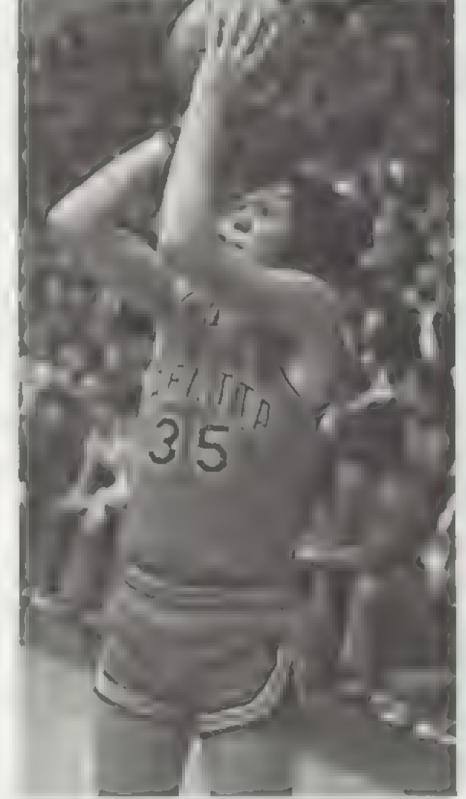

TIGERS TIE FOR SECOND IN C.O.L.

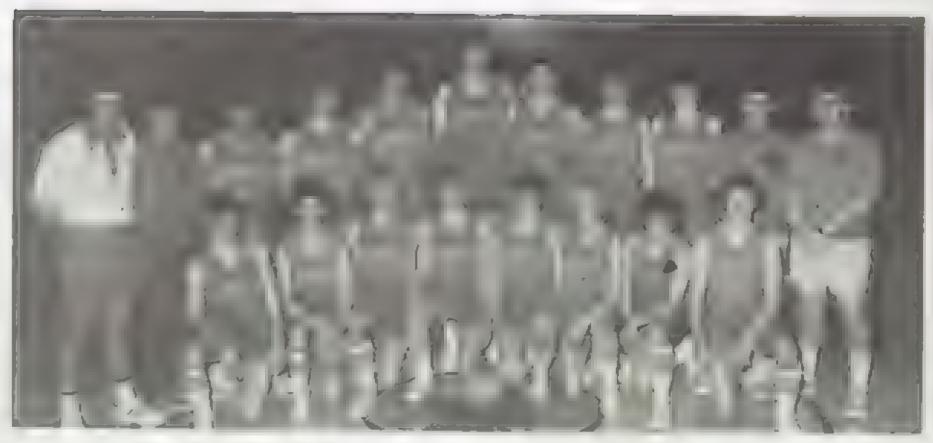

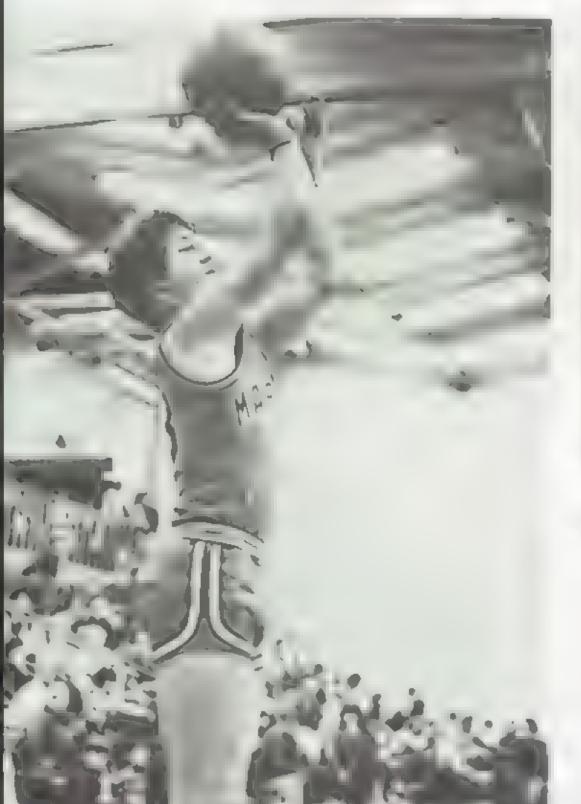

A 52-50 defeat by Grove City was the only obstacle between the Tigers and a first place finish in the C O L. The Greyhounds shot a hot 58% from the field and sank several free throws during the overtime to destroy the Tigers' title hopes. Starting the season slowly, winning only one of their first six games, the Tigers came on to win nine of their last eleven games. The Tigers tinished the regular season with ten wins and eight losses. During the post-season tournament, the Tigers lost their touch, losing to Chillicothe in the opening round, even though they had beaten the Calvaliers twice during the regular season.

"As good a Marietta crew as I've ever seen," is how Tim Kerr described the Tiger crew. Kerr who coached some of Marietta's tough crews in the 60's, was an official at the 1976 Schoolboy Nationals in Princeton, N.J. "Marietta was the smoothest of all the (varsity) eights. I was really impressed with their bladework," Marietta finished with a time of 4:53 for the fifteen hundred meter course. The varsity finished one boat length behind Ridley of Canada and two lengths behind Holy Spirit from Atlantic City. Marietta's Varsity defeated Upper Canada, St. Andrews from Delaware, and T C. Williams, Marietta upset the qualifying heats on the day before the finals by coming within a length of Ridley and became one of six boats out of the fifteen competing to qualify for the Princeton Schoolboy Nationals

T.V. TEAM CAPTURES TITLE

For the first time in seven years, the scholarship team won top honors in T.V. Honor Society. The team, composed of seniors Tim Brown, Brian Carr, Alice Dye, Debbie Heldman, and alternate Becky Weinstock, defeated four teams before reaching the final championship round with Federal Hocking. For their efforts, the team received a five-hundred dollar scholarship to be awarded to a deserving senior for use at any local college.
